

Remarks

This amendment amends claim 1 in a fashion somewhat similar to that proposed by the amendment dated August 22, 2004. It is submitted that claim 1 differentiates itself from the prior art.

With respect to the double-patenting rejection, the Examiner has not provided the Applicant with a proper rationale for this rejection. Also, the rejection is confusing. For example, is claim 1 being provisionally rejected based on claim 1 of 09/972,441? Is that claim also being independently rejected based on each and every claim of 09/972,441? As things stand, the Applicant has not been advised regarding which claim is rejected for what reason. As to the admitted differences, the Examiner either needs to cite prior art to support his contention or the place his contentions into affidavit form as required by 37 CFR 1.104(d)(2) – as the Applicant hereby requests.

Furthermore, it is believed that the amendments made herein further distinguish the claims of this application from those of 09/972,441. It is also noted that 09/972,441 has been allowed over the Japanese document cited by the Examiner against the claims herein. It is believed that the present claims are distinguished from the allowed claims of 09/972,441 and that both the allowed claims of 09/972,441 and the present claims are patentable over the cited Japanese document.

The attached sheet of drawings includes changes to Fig. 1. This sheet, which includes Fig. 1 replaces the original sheet including Fig. 1. In particular, a legend – Prior Art – has been added, as the Examiner suggests.
